South Africa is a diverse, active sporting nation. Given this fact there are hundreds of sport organisations in existence in the country serving more than one hundred disciplines, sub-disciplines and levels of participation. This publication lists mainly national sport organisations - including recognised national federations affiliated internationally - as well as certain other organisations such as non-recognised bodies, major events, provincial governmental departments dealing with sport, and provincial sport academies responsible for development. Since sport organisations change personnel often this publication is a snapshot and may not have the latest personnel details - refer to an organisation's website for the most recent updates and event calendars.
